

Educational Games from Looney Labs!

Looney Labs' Newest Educational Game...

Although Nanofictionary stories are shared orally, the game is essentially a creative writing exercise.

Players collect cards in four “suits” — character, setting, problem, and resolution — and use their imaginations to connect the parts of their story in a logical and entertaining way. Players then take turns telling their stories. The game ends with a vote for the best story.

Nanofictionary teaches the concepts of story elements and story development straight out of the box!

Ask for our educational catalog!

www.LooneyLabs.com/EDU